Dear Parents/ Carers,

As you might be aware - on 2 /2 / 22 - five boys started pedalling! Thomas, Freddie, Sam, Seb and Tommy are now 160 days into their year long challenge where they hope to cycle the distance between the North Pole and the South Pole a whopping 20,014km.

So far, these boys have clocked up an impressive 7,000km and have already raised £6,500 for the World Land Trust (<http://www.worldlandtrust.org>). We want to give the boys a boost as they approach the half way mark and would love the Cunningham Hill School community to get behind them!

So on Friday, 15th July, these 5 boys will be doing laps of the playground in the hope they can clock up 100km after school. Please do come along and support them - all children are welcome to bring their bikes to school and cycle a few laps with the boys or simply come along to cheer them on. And there will be cakes galore!!

If you would like to make a donation and support the incredible work of the World Land Trust, then please visit the boys' justgiving page (www.justgiving.com/sebandsamcan)

Good luck boys and keep pedalling!!
